

Pamela Burks

Speaker | Coach | Author

I am an introvert who learned to be an extrovert so that I can achieve my desire, "have a positive impact on others" and "charged" with the purpose to "stand in the gap", as the bridge between -

- What "was" and what "can be"
- Past life experience and new life opportunity
- Change/Challenge and a new life normal
- Spiritual "deafness" and hearing God by clearing life clutter

I've been invisible! I've been ignored! I've had others receive credit for my accomplishments and I worried that I would always be alone!

Today, I'm a Speaker and Life Coach helping others build Confidence and Focus on what matters most to them by forming new habits and managing life change and challenge to Achieve their goals and live VIVID!

My Transformation -

- From quiet observer to public speaker
- From afraid to made a decision to change my entire life focus and structure
- From introvert to commanding a room of thousands
- From Corporate Manager to Life Empowerment Coach

I built who I have become from what was available to me at the point when LIFE pushed me into rebuilding myself. Sometimes you chose change....Sometimes change chooses you!
